

The Lucaris Desire Collection

Crystal Stemware designed for the world's finest wines

What do you get when a fine crystal master designer works closely with a master sommelier? Simply the finest crystal stemware in the world that elevates wine drinking into a pure sensory experience.

The result of a collaborative effort between Lucaris and the Hong Kong Sommelier Association, the Lucaris Desire Collection probably represents the first time that crystal stemware produced in Asia has delivered truly world class quality.

Lucaris, as a brand, is known for infusing Asian traditions with Western sensibilities, and the Desire Collection manifests this character in full. One unique feature that the glasses in this collection have is the Aerlumer design — Lucaris' signature innovation. These curl lines at the bottom of the bowl encourage micro-oxidation and soften the wine while swirling, allowing for diversified interaction between wine and air, but intentionally kept subtle for better appreciation of the wine's bouquet.

The collection is lead free and dishwasher friendly. It is available across India at Home Stop and Lifestyle Stores, Amazon and also at leading department stores across Asia.
